Dear Friends,

I am writing you today with exciting program information about our Seventeenth Annual Women as the Face of AIDS Summit, presented as a hybrid model, both online and in-person, and also to ask for your support as a member of our community.

Our Summit is a well-anticipated and highly regarded program on women and HIV in the nation. In the last few years, we have attracted speakers from Minnesota, Nebraska, California, Georgia, and Philadelphia; joining others from New York, New Jersey, and Washington D.C. In 2021, we had the exciting opportunity to hear from Dr. Oni Blackstock, formerly of NYC Department of Health and Mental Services, who brilliantly tackled the impact of race on health disparities. With early support from several of our funders, we are even more hopeful about this year’s event, which we have themed “Racism: The Hidden Driver of HIV”, where we will hear from women around the globe.

The scale of the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV)/AIDS epidemic has exceeded all expectations since its identification 40 years ago. Additionally, health inequities have been severely impacted by COVID-19; and since the beginning of the pandemic, concerns have been raised about the impact of COVID-19 on people living with HIV, given their weakened immune systems.

The spread of HIV and its impact on social capital, population structure and economic growth has been greater than anticipated. Responding to HIV/AIDS on a scale proportionate with the epidemic is a global imperative, and steady social mobilization is necessary to combat one of the most serious crises facing human development. This year’s summit will attempt to address the impact of race on the health inequities seen throughout the HIV epidemic.

The greatest achievements in Ending the Epidemic have come when we have all worked together: people living with HIV, people in high-risk categories, advocates, social workers, medical providers, researchers and policy makers. All of our experiences make our forward momentum stronger, and nothing can be fully effective without all of us on the same page, amplifying each other’s voices and building on our shared work.

The schedule of the day is tentatively as follows:

10:45  Welcoming Remarks
11:00  Morning Plenary Sessions
       Update on Women, Girls and HIV
1:00   Breakout Sessions I
2:00   Breakout Sessions II
3:00   Afternoon Plenary featuring TBD
4:15   Exhibit Hall

This year, we will continue tradition of honoring two to three individuals at our Summit luncheon who’ve made significant impacts on the HIV Community: We look forward to highlighting them as we lead up to the event in May.

We would like to invite you to join us as a community sponsor as our event continues its growth into a regional event and attracts attendees and presenters from up and down the eastern seaboard. See below for a full breakout of the levels of community sponsorships. As we did in 2021, we will be charging a small fee for attendees, with PLHIV receiving a significant discount.
Sponsorship packages include tickets to the event. This change, successfully implemented in 2018, is to combat the very high rates of registrants who do not show up: people are more likely to attend an event in which they have an investment, even a token one. The entrance fee for presenters is waived. All registered attendees onsite will receive lunch, snacks and dessert during the networking hour.

The Iris House Women as the Face of AIDS Summit is the only public education forum in New York City and one of few nationally that focuses on Women and HIV/AIDS. With recent studies in New York State highlighting how neither women nor people of color are hitting national averages of HIV viral suppression, it has never been more important or urgent to address the incredible health disparities facing the women in our communities. This is one way we can help. We are proud of our track record. Comments from past participants testify to the success of the conference in disseminating critical information about prevention and living with HIV/AIDS.

The event targets two very different audiences and works to educate providers, case managers and professional staff with new ideas, theories and best practices, while simultaneously providing opportunities for people living with HIV/AIDS and members of the broader community to understand their own health issues, learn more about healthy living and working to keep themselves and their loved ones safe.

Participants in the educational sessions on Monday, May 2nd will walk away with new understandings of the challenges facing people living with HIV/AIDS, ways for women to advocate for themselves and their community, practical programs that bring about increased rates of viral suppression, ideas on how to address challenges like intimate partner violence, stigma and more.

The success of the Summit depends on partnership with non-profit leaders. Only with underwriting, can we attract the largest numbers of interested persons among providers, clients and community leaders. At the same time, nonprofit partners– with logos on our website, signage at the event, a listing in the Summit journal– can reach a broad audience of our clients, healthcare providers, and this year, the community at large. Your sponsorship of this year’s event will also provide on-site access, including breakfast and lunch to those without reliable internet. We deeply appreciate all of the support we have received in the past, and hope that you will join us this year.
